

PSYCHIC WAVES HOLD HUSBAND

"Soul Vibrations" or Plain Hypnotism Influencing Dentist, Wife Testifies.

Bridgeport, Conn., September 3.—Psychic waves emanating from Elizabeth Towne, of Holyoke, Mass., a leader in the New Thought cult, are a controlling influence in the life of Dr. Frederick Uhle, a prominent dentist of this city, according to the testimony of his wife, Mrs. Ottilie Uhle, given before Judge H. W. Gregory in the Norwalk Probate Court.

Mrs. Uhle told the court she was not sure whether it was a case of "soul vibration" or just plain hypnotism. She testified that after suspecting that one was influencing her husband she paid a visit to Mrs. Towne and asked her to desist. Mrs. Uhle testified that when her husband learned of this he caused his post-office box to be changed.

During the hearing Mrs. Uhle accused her husband of spending all his money on a "beautiful grass widow" living in Bridgeport. She said her husband is a New Thought devotee and has taken up a course of hypnotism from a correspondence school in Chicago. He practiced on his two daughters, Miss Jeanette and Miss Fionella, testified Mrs. Uhle. Dr. Uhle entered a general denial, and his daughters, when called to testify, denied that he had attempted to use them as subjects.

Judge Gregory refused to grant Mrs. Uhle's application for a conservator. He said, "It looks to me like a case of who is to be boss in the family."

Dr. Uhle has his office here, but lives in Norwalk. The family is prominent in both cities.

BEAR HUNTER FLEES

Swims Icy Torrent and Spends Night High Up in Tree.

San Rafael, September 3.—Forced to flee for his life, swim an icy mountain torrent and spend the night up a slender willow tree by bears, was the experience of Herbert de Montanya, recorder of this city, while on a hunting trip in Humboldt county, from which he has just returned.

With James Wilkins, a wealthy landowner, Montanya occupied a couch of pine needles in camp at night. Early in the morning, after Wilkins arose and left camp, Montanya was awakened suddenly by a loud crashing in the bushes. He jumped to his feet and made out in the darkness, several dark objects bearing down upon him. Not having a gun near, he rushed down the side of the canyon.

The crushing of the bushes continued. As Montanya broke out of the underbrush a raging torrent lay before him. He hesitated, but the bears in the rear drew closer, and he plunged into the chilly stream, and, faint and numb with cold, he finally gained the opposite bank. Ten yards down stream he saw three dark bears splashing through a shallow ripple. They had found a ford, and were not on his trail. With little stamina left he climbed a tree. When on the topmost branch he called for Wilkins, until he grew hoarse, but there was no response.

It was daylight before the water-soaked man was relieved of his unwelcome guests, and, climbing down from his perch, he packed up and came home.

MILLIONAIRE AS LABORER AT SIX DOLLARS A WEEK

Young Son of Copper Magnate Is Telling in One of His Plants to Learn the Business.

Baltimore, September 3.—Edmond A. Guggenheim, son of Murray Guggenheim, of the American Smelting Company, will start work as a laborer at $6 per week in the copper works of the company at Canton. He will begin work on October 2, and within three years is determined to learn the "ins" and "outs" of the gigantic business which his father and associates have built up. Sitting in his room at the Hotel Belvidere, he said:

"My father has copper mines and factories and other gigantic enterprises in every part of the world, but it has been agreed that I sell my hands in Maryland. I intend to stick in Baltimore. Don't think that I am going to shut myself up in this city. I propose to take an active part in civic affairs, and when I get started in this city I want to become one of its potent factors."

"I'm going to get right down beside the other fellows in the factory and do my share. I'll do my work as I have done on the athletic field at Yale."

ARREST SLEUTH ON BLACKMAIL CHARGE

Pittsburg, Pa., September 3.—Earl S. Roach, a member of the county detective force, who is better known as District Attorney Blakeley's "own" sleuth, was arrested by order of Assistant District Attorney Seymour. Roach is charged with extortion, conspiracy and blackmail.

It is charged that Detective Roach went to John Schlipf, a wealthy brewer of Ambridge, and said that he had been sent from "headquarters" to solicit a campaign contribution for the Republican party. He got $500.

SUMMON 31 TO TELL OF NEGRO BURNING

Prominent Men Among Coatesville Subpoenaed Before Grand Jury.

Coatesville, Pa., September 3.—Thirty-one witnesses, prominent in various walks of life, some residents of Coatesville, Parkersburg and the surrounding townships, were subpoenaed by Constable C. E. Umstead to appear in West Chester Monday morning and tell the grand jury what they know about the death of Zachariah Walker, the Southern negro, who was dragged, manacled on a cot, from the Coatesville Hospital and barbarously burned to death Sunday night, August 13.

By these witnesses, it is said, sensational testimony will be given relative to the action of the authorities after Walker, the cornered negro, who shot and killed Special Officer Thomas Edgar Rice, had attempted suicide in the woods in Fallowfield township the next day, and was taken to the hospital.

Another important feature will possibly be brought out, in that there was very little light in the Coatesville Hospital that Sunday night. When Assistant Attorney-General Trinkle, Mr. Umstead and Constable Umstead visited the hospital it was clearly demonstrated that it was an impossibility for a policeman, Stanley Howe, who was on guard, to recognize any of the persons who came in when the hospital was stormed by the negro.

It is expected here to-night that a number of the persons summoned to West Chester, after the testimony is heard, will be detained, possibly as "material witnesses," or on more serious charges.

Some of the detectives are still active in Coatesville. It leaked out here to-night that two of the plain-clothes men are working on a clue that may implicate prominent young women. It is said that the detectives have gleaned information, some of which was to the effect that early Sunday evening, on the night of the crime, these women hurried up supper, oiled their baby carriages and wheeled the infants to the hospital to see the negro taken out.

Some Prominent Witnesses.

The list of witnesses subpoenaed for Monday embraces Dr. J. M. Pratt, a prominent physician; James D. Scott, Republican candidate for recorder of deeds; A. S. Wright, Philadelphia and Reading Railway detective; Robert Allison, special officer at North Brothers; S. D. Smulowitz, merchant; W. W. Lane, Jr., E. Williams, Jr., and Omar Unstut, local newspaper men; J. Conner and Fred Fisher, mill men; Dale Hadley, who had been held as a "material witness"; Constable C. E. Umstead and Officers John Allen, Stanley Howe, Charles Frymoyer, merchant; Frank Martin, farmer; Edward Glicker, farmer; R. Reynolds, Fred Blessing, of Coatesville; Ambrose Boyd and Daniel Pinkerton, motorman and conductor on the Parkersburg trolley line.

GOVERNOR DENEEN HURT

Springfield, Ill., September 3.—In an attempt to prevent a collision between his automobile and a two-seated conveyance near Glenarm, about fifteen miles from this city, Governor Charles S. Deneen was seriously injured today when he fell, breaking both bones of his left ankle.

The Governor, seeing that a collision was unavoidable, sprang on the running board of the machine in which he was riding to grasp the bridle of the horse. He fell with his left leg under him. He was hurried to this city and is confined to his room in the Executive Mansion. Doctors Taylor and Patton, who were called, said the Governor would be unable to leave the room for five or six weeks.

WRESTLERS ON EDGE FOR BIG BOUT TO-DAY

Gotch and Hackenschmidt Said to Be in Prime Condition.

BOTH ARE CONFIDENT

Early Last Night Crowd Had Begun to Gather at Park.

Statements of Wrestlers.

"I certainly expect to win, for I am basing my plans for victory on my condition, which is better than ever before in my long wrestling career. I also believe that I will be able to meet Hacky trick for trick and outlast him if the match becomes an endurance contest, such as our former match."

"Just how I will try to defeat Hack I cannot say. My tactics will depend somewhat on his. I am prepared to wrestle all night if necessary. Hack's great strength makes him a hard man to defeat. It will be a match in which generalship as well as strength will count. My greater experience should bring me victory."—Gotch.

"In all of my professional wrestling matches I never have tried to predict the outcome. I will not boast. All I can say is that I am feeling fine and confident tonight, and I want to sail for home September 3 as the world's wrestling champion."

"I never have been satisfied with my other match with Gotch, when he was credited with defeating me. I have learned more since then and have more confidence."—Hackenschmidt.

Chicago, Ill., September 3.—Gotch, the Iowa farmer, and George Hackenschmidt, the Russian student, will determine to-morrow who is the mightiest wrestler in the world. To-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the American League Park, these two grapplers will meet to settle the supremacy. Gotch won their former match in Chicago, April 3, 1908, but he did not pin the shoulders of the "Russian Lion" to the mat. For that reason he never has been given universal credit for his victory.

But to-morrow both contestants insist that the match will not end until one man has obtained two falls. It may be necessary to finish the contest under the glare of arc lights, but regardless of this the wrestlers are determined to settle their dispute beyond all possible doubt before they leave the park.

The total ticket sales up to 6 o'clock to-night amounted to approximately $70,000. It is expected that 16,000 persons will witness the contest and that the gross receipts will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. Whatever they are, it is expected that they will be larger than at any previous contest.

Although the turnstile at the park will not begin to revolve until 11 o'clock, early to-night ardent devotees of the sport have begun to gather outside the gates and seek vantage points for an early entrance to the field. Stories of Gotch's wonderful condition, which have been circulated since he arrived last Friday, have varied the betting odds on him down to two to one. While he was still training in Humboldt, Iowa, he was but a six to five favorite.

Very little betting is being done, however. As an explanation for this condition, veteran sports say that the element which used to plunge on big contests that early Sunday evening, on the night of the crime, these women hurried up supper, oiled their baby carriages and wheeled the infants to the hospital to see the negro taken out.

Gotch partisans maintain he will win because he is the clearest catch-as-catch-can wrestler, a quicker thinker and perhaps as strong as his opponent. They insist that he displayed his superiority in every department of the sport at their last match and that in the last three years he has improved greatly.

On the other hand, followers of Hackenschmidt say that he is the strongest wrestler that has ever lived, and that in this contest, which it is generally conceded will be one of the greatest in the history of the sport, his opponent, Humboldt, is at home, virtually in a deserted village to-night. Scores of its citizens, who have known Gotch from boyhood, swarmed in on him to-day, and were the champion's guests at the Chicago-St. Louis National League ball game. Gotch's aged mother, his wife and members of her family also attended the game.

In the morning the champion took a brisk run to loosen his muscles. That was the only work in the way of training he did. He spent the evening in his apartments reading the hundreds of letters and telegrams wishing him good luck and victory. This was a trying day for Hackenschmidt's trainers. The giant wrestler was as petulant as a spoiled child. Dr. Rother says this is a good sign, because it shows the grappler is on edge.

The Russian took a short run in the morning, slept a couple of hours and then the only work in the way of training he did. He spent the evening in his apartments reading the hundreds of letters and telegrams wishing him good luck and victory. This was a trying day for Hackenschmidt's trainers. The giant wrestler was as petulant as a spoiled child. Dr. Rother says this is a good sign, because it shows the grappler is on edge.

COW ASSAULTS CONDUCTOR

Suit Over Whether Car or Bovine Had Right of Way Resulted.

Winsted, Conn., September 3.—Which has the better right to the highways, a trolley car or a cow, is one of the legal problems to be solved in a threatened lawsuit in Farmington. Judge Charles N. Lee, who is looking after the business interest of Henry M. Cowles while the latter is in the South, has received a letter from a Hartford lawyer, informing him that a damage suit will be instituted against Cowles because one of the latter's cows assaulted a conductor on the Farmington Valley Railway.

The conductor was riding on the footboard of a car and the cow was standing in the road, and when the car was opposite her she turned her head quickly and caught the conductor with one horn and threw him off the car. A lawyer said that cows had rights on the highways and used them long before trolley cars were thought of, but it is a question of how much supervision the owner of a cow must exercise over her to prevent her from accidentally doing damage with her horns. The outcome of the suit will be awaited with much interest.

NAVY CHIEFS VISIT LEAGUE ISLAND

Philadelphia, September 3.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop and Rear-Admiral Nathan C. Twining, Chief of Ordnance, made an inspection of the navy yard yesterday, for the purpose of obtaining information to be used in the preparation of estimates for contemplated improvements at the yard.

"It is the purpose of the Navy Department," said Mr. Winthrop, "to make a number of improvements here, chief of which will be the establishment of the advance base school of the Marine Corps, which will make the Philadelphia yard the principal point of the Atlantic coast for the assembling of marines both in time of peace and in time of war. The school will be for the purpose of instructing the men in the rapid mobilization of their forces and a supply base will be established where all necessary equipment to be used in case of war will be stored. This will require the erection of more buildings."

The other improvements to be made at the yard are the outcome of the natural development of the navy. The water front will be improved so as to admit of the largest battleships, which now have difficulty in getting into drydock and alongside the wharves. The facilities for the handling and repair of heavy ordnance, as well as general ship repairs will also be increased."

Fort Mifflin to be Modernized.

Upon completion of the inspection of the yard the party boarded the naval tug Somerset and were taken down the river to Fort Mifflin, which also was inspected for the purpose of making improvements.

"The magazines of the fort will be enlarged to accommodate large stores of ammunition," said Mr. Winthrop, and the old military post will be made a supply base for the navy, particularly for use in time of war. The enlargement of the magazines, however, was not so much the reason for the inspection as the improvement of the fort to bring it up to a modern standard. The entire sea wall will be rebuilt and dikes constructed for the improvement of the channel."

Besides Admiral Twining, Mr. Winthrop was accompanied by Mrs. Winthrop. The party arrived at the West Philadelphia Station from New York at 11:10 A. M. and was met by Lieut. Commander Grant, who had the trip to the Navy yard made in a motor car. At the yard the party was met by Commander Grant. Three companies of marines and the yard band, headed by Major Leonard, were drawn up at the entrance to welcome the officials.

One of the best yards in the country, highly praised by the condition of the yard. "It is always a great pleasure for me to visit the Philadelphia Navy Yard," he said, "and I consider it one of the best in the country. What impresses me particularly is the trim condition of the park itself and the orderly appearance of the buildings."

Upon the return from Fort Mifflin, Mr. Winthrop boarded the new battleship Utah and spent some time looking over the big fighter while the work of provisioning her was in progress.

JUDGE FAVORS HIM

Los Angeles, Cal., September 3.—It was judicially determined in the Superior Court that if a lawyer wants to go fishing that is good ground for continuing his case. Attorney Kemper Campbell protested to Judge Hutton when a case in which he was interested was set for an early date.

"Can't you make it later?" asked the attorney.

Judge Hutton wanted to know the reason, and when the attorney hesitated and evinced some reluctance to answer, the court came to his assistance.

"It is a good ground for continuing when an attorney wants to go fishing; make it the 14th," he announced.

CROWN JEWELS OF BOHEMIA ARE SAFE

Seven Dignitaries With Seven Keys of St. Vit's Set at Rest Alarming Stories of Theft.

Carlsbad, September 3.—Alarming reports have been lately current in Austria that the crown jewels of Bohemia had been stolen from the holy shrine of St. Vit's Cathedral, Prague. The question was considered whether to open the crown chamber and examine the casket in which the jewels are kept.

This was not an easy task, because the iron door of St. Vit's Cathedral at Prague, behind which is the chamber in which the jewels are hidden, is protected by seven large steel locks, and each key is in the possession of one of the seven highest dignitaries of the Kingdom of Bohemia. One of these keys is kept by the Governor of Bohemia, another by the Archbishop of Prague, a third by the Lord Mayor of Prague. After obtaining the necessary consent from the Emperor Francis Joseph, these seven high dignitaries met yesterday at the cathedral, but the condition of the iron door to the chamber was so bad on account of the thick layers of rust on the seven locks that experts had to be sent for who, after great trouble, succeeded in opening the door. Thereupon the seven dignitaries applied their keys, and for the first time since the year 1867 the door was opened. The dignitaries climbed up on a secret serpentine staircase to the chamber, which they found rich and artistically decorated and in a tolerably good condition.

The shrine in which the jewels are kept was found covered with dust and mortar, also protected by seven locks, and with the same seven keys with which the door of the chamber had been opened, the door of the shrine was opened, and on a crimson cushion the crown jewels of Bohemia, which are of immense value and 700 years old, were found. A golden diadem which was thought to be lost was at the top. The other jewels were the crown, sceptre, imperial globe, the crown cloak of Bohemia and all the insignia which belong to the crown.

The jewels were sparkling. The golden settings were rather dim, but in good shape. After the minutes of the meeting were written down, the casket was closed again with the seven keys and the door of the crown chamber also closed with the same keys.

OMAHA VOTERS ADOPT RULE BY COMMISSION

Victory Was Conceded and Turnout at Polls Was Light.

Omaha, Neb., September 3.—At a special election, the city of Omaha adopted the commission form of government by a vote of 5,341 to 2,345. The proposition was adopted under a law passed by the last Legislature. The plan had the support of all the newspapers and almost all the commercial organizations of the city.

The opposition was so weak that the vote was very light, 17,000 voters stayed away from the polls. Victory for the plan was conceded.

New city officials will be elected under the commission form in May, 1912.

GREETED REPUBLICAN

King Alfonso Says He Couldn't Help Being Born a Monarch.

Bilbao, September 3.—While King Alfonso was here the other day he was made honorable president of the Sociedad Vienstora, a shooting club, whose president is an ardent Republican.

A member of the King's suite informed His Majesty of the club president's politics and asked if he would receive him.

"Why, yes; it doesn't matter to me that he is a Republican. Let everybody think as he pleases," said the King.

Senor Rua, the president, was presented, and King Alfonso greeted him warmly, saying in a laughing way:

"Your opinions create no obstacle against my receiving you with the same affection as others and the more pleasure. I am monarch because I was born a King, otherwise nobody knows what my opinions might have been. Who can tell but that very soon we shall all have to be Republicans?"

Death of Dr. Carroll M. Baggary.

Dr. Carroll Moore Baggary, for thirteen years a well known practicing physician, lecturer and specialist of this city, died last night at 8 o'clock at the Virginia Hospital, following an illness which had extended for several weeks. The body will be taken to his former home at Washington, Rappahannock county, on the noon train to-day for burial to-morrow at noon.

Dr. Baggary had been for some years a lecturer on bacteriology at Richmond College, and had done similar work at the Woman's College. A specialist in diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, he was associated with Dr. Joseph A. White for some time. He was thirty-seven years old, and unmarried.
